Mirus IT has two Gold Microsoft competencies and 6 Silver competencies which is the leading quantity in the Milton Keynes area.

Choosing Milton Keynes

We find that the range of skills in the area due to the variety of industries and proximity to London provides a healthy talent pool for finding the right people for the job. This has helped us improve our levels of service quality and therefore the value delivered to our customers.

The optimism and enthusiasm of businesses in Milton Keynes is the most encouraging aspect. This relates to all aspects, from the use of innovation in technology, to the plans set out to develop Milton Keynes as an International City. We also have a wealth of business networking groups and appreciate the appetite to do business locally.

Working with Partners

Milton Keynes College has been a supportive local partner, considering our relationship is purely informal. We share the vision to utilise skills and resources on our doorsteps and have worked on innovative projects to communicate the value in this approach in order to support each other's goals. In particular, Mirus IT has worked with Milton Keynes College to recruit apprentices following an invitation to help shape modern and relevant courses to prepare students for permanent employment.

Award Winners

Mirus Managing Director Paul Tomlinson has won Bucks Entrepreneur of the Year Award 2013. On winning the award, Paul adds "I am delighted that eleven years since starting Mirus IT that the organisation is still pushing forward with vision and innovation.

Doing Business in Milton Keynes

Milton Keynes has a varied cross section of businesses, which means the opportunity for all to collaborate and support each other is rich, instead of a city known for one particular type of industry with limited prospects. Milton Keynes' geographical location and Infrastructure is also well positioned and designed to attract business from much further afield, stretching the market and business opportunities even further
